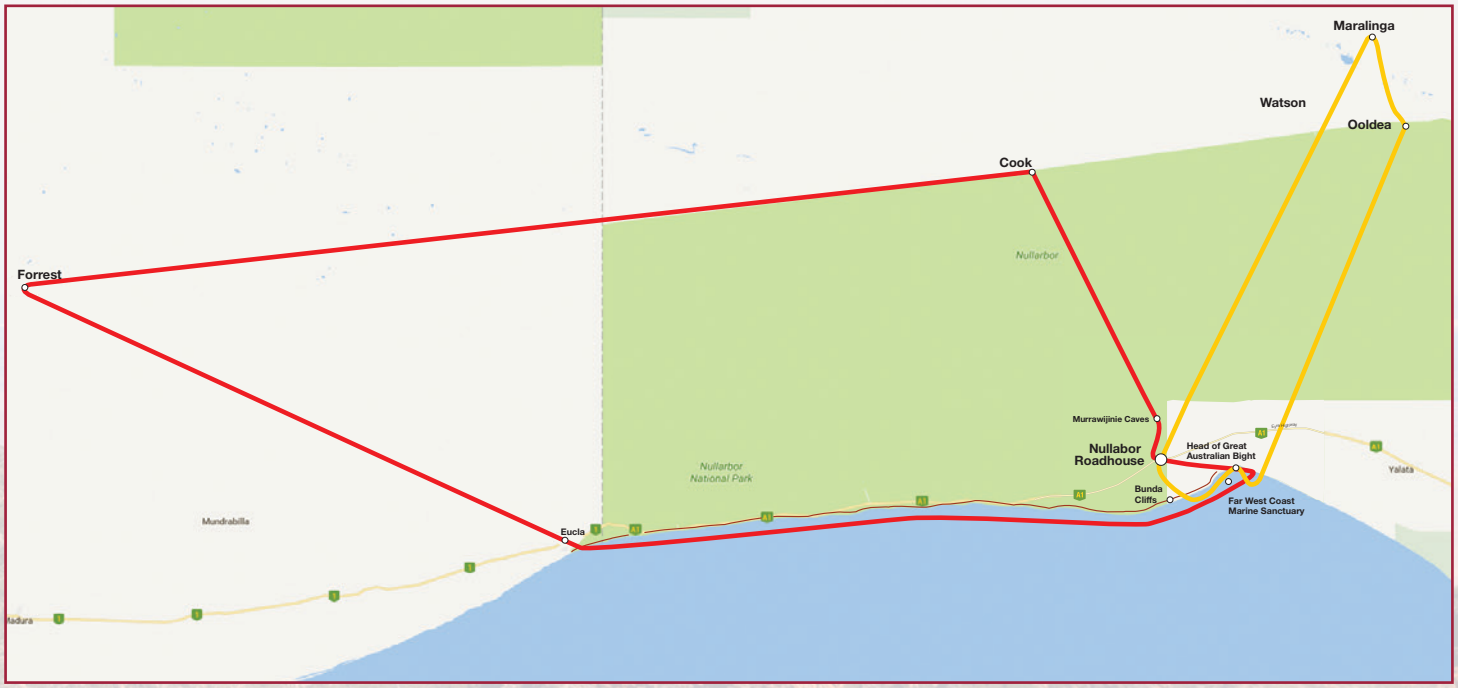
Aerial Tours

From Nullarbor Roadhouse



The Cliffs and Railway Full Day Tour

The Nullarbor is a open plain, known for being without trees (in fact, Nullarbor is a corruption of the Latin term Null Arbour, meaning no trees). But the Nullarbor is the world's largest single exposure of limestone bedrock – over 200 000 square kilometres. However, this vast expanse also has rock holes, caves, and clay pans. We offer a one day tour that includes a flight along the Bunda Cliffs from the Head of Bight to Eucla. At Eucla, we turn North West and fly over the Nullabor before landing at Forrest, on the Trans Australian railway line. Forrest has a population of five (once you arrive), and sits on the longest straight stretch of railway line in the world. The stop in Forrest will allow you to stretch your legs, walk around town, visit the Forrest museum, and enjoy refreshments.

When ready, we depart from Forrest and fly along the railway line to Cook. After over-flying the town, we turn South for Nullarbor, and the Far West Coast Marine Sanctuary. During the winter months, Southern Right Whales visit the Sanctuary to give birth and to breed.

Maralinga Mystery Full Day Tour

In the 1950s and 1960s, the British military tested nuclear bombs of varying sizes on the Nullarbor Plain at a place called Maralinga.

Visit Maralinga township, and learn the secrets of this amazing piece of Australia's history. Enjoy a guided tour to the actual bomb site to see for yourself some of the Commonwealth's military history.

After lunch, tour the Maralinga townsite, and learn the history of this remote, former military, town.

This is a memorable day in the Outback.

Available each Tuesday or Thursday from early June to early October.
