THE MYSTERIES OF MARALINGA

Full Day Tour

In the 1950s and 1960s, the British military tested nuclear bombs of varying sizes on the Great Victoria Desert at a place called Maralinga.

Enjoy a guided tour to the actual bomb site to see for yourself some of the Commonwealth's military history.

After a picnic lunch, tour the Maralinga townsite, and learn the history of this remote, former military, town.

Please note: This tour only operates on Tuesdays & Thursdays, between 1 April and 31 October.

NULLARBOR CLIFFS AND COAST

Full Day Tour

The Far West Coast of South Australia contains some of the most spectacular coastal scenery of anywhere in Australia. Miles of beaches, steep cliffs, and secluded rockpools make for amazing views.

Combine this with stories of our pioneering past and interesting present, and you will have a memorable day out.

Between late May and early October, you may see Southern Right Whales at Fowlers Bay and the Great Australian Bight Marine Park. The most whales (over 100) are generally seen from early July to early September.
